POETRY IN OLD FOLKS.

" I often think each tottering form That limps along in life's decline, Once bore a heart as young, as warm, As full of idle faults as mine! And each has had its dreams of joy, Its own unequalled, pure romance, Commencing when the blushing boy . First thrilled at lovely woman's glance.

" And each could tell his tale of youth, Would think its scenes of love evince More passion, more unearthly truth, Than any tale before or since. Yes! they could tell of tender lays, At midnight penned in classic shades,

And maids more fair than modern maids. " Of whispers in a willing ear: Of kisses on a blushing cheek; Each kiss, each whisper, far too dear, Our modern lips to give or speak ; Of passions too untimely crossed;

Of days more bright than modern days,

Of kindred spirits early, lost, And bilds that blossomed but to fade. "Of beaming eyes and tresses gay, Elastic form and noble brow, And forms that have all passed away, . And left them what we see them now.

And is it thus-is human love So very light and frail a thing? And must youth's brightest visions move Forever on Time's restless wing? " Must all the eyes that now are bright, And the lips that talk of bliss,

And all the forms so fair to sight, Hereafter only come to this? Then what are all earth's treasures worth. If we at length must lose them thus-If all we value most on earth Ere long must fade away from us?"

THE OPEN WINDOW.

BY H. W. LONGPELLOW. The old house by the lindens, Stood silent in the shade, And on the graveled pathway The light and shadow played.

I saw the nursery window Wide open to the air; But the faces of the children, They were no longer there.

The large Newfoundland house-dog Was standing by the door; He looked for his little playmates, Who would return no more.

They walked not under the lindens, They played not in the ball; The shadow and silence and sadness Were hanging over all.

The birds sang in the branches, With sweet familiar tone; But the voices of the children Will be heard in dreams alone.

And the boy that walked beside me, He could not understand Why closer in mine-ah, closer !-I pressed his soft, warm hand.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILL A certain Cure for Diseased Liver and the many Dangerous Maladies which are caused by a morbid condition of that organ. that organ.

DESCRIPTION OF THE HUMAN LIVER and its functions, which will make the operation of this popular medicine perceptible to every man's under-The liver is supplied with blood vessels, herves and The liver is supplied with blood vessels, nerves and absorbents. One of its obvious uses is to secrete and prepare the bile. It likewise filters the blood and separates that fluid from all impurities. How indispensably necessary to health is the proper performance of this function! If the liver is diseased, it cannot purify the blood, and if that is sent back through the lungs, brain, and other parts in a morbid condition, it must cause jaundice, billousness, obstruction of the kidneys, gravel, and many other complaints more or less painful and dangerous, but the least of them quite enough to make a man sick and uncomfortable, and unfit for the performance of any of the duties of life. This unhealthy state of the system very often ends in pulmonary consumption.

Sumption.

The circulation of the blood is conducted in this manner: The heart sends the vital current down through the arteries; it passes through the fiesh, taking up all impurities in its progress; then the stream of blood flows the view and passes to the liver to De purified. It is impossible to cure consumption, scrof-nia, or scarcely any other kind of ulceration, while that important organ, the liver, is diseased. It is for that rea-son that "regular physicians" rarely cure consumption. They usually begin their treatment with the use of some cough medicine, the basis of which is morphia or opium some shape, which locks up the liver instead of re-ing the secretions, giving a tone to the stomach, and ducing a healthy flow of bile. Dr. Schenek's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills,

A volume would be required, to give a brief account of the remarkable cures performed by Dr. Schenck's medicines, viz., Pulmonic Svrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, all of which are accompanied by full directions for the use of them.

DR. SCHENCK will be professionally at his rooms every week, 32 Bond Street, New York, and 35 Hanover Street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free; but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is five (5) dollars. His medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers. Oh ! give me the life of a farmer's wife, In the fields and woods so bright, 'Mong the singing birds and the lowing herds, And the clover blossoms white.

The note of the morning's heavenward lark Is the music sweet to me : And the dewy flowers in the early hours,

The gems I love to see. Oh! give me the breeze from the waving trees, The murmur of Summer leaves;

And the swallow's song as he skims along Or twitters beneath the eaves; The plowman's shout, as he's turning out His team at set of sun,

Or his merry " good night," by the fire fly's light When his daily work is done.

And give me the root and the luscious fruit, And my own hand's rear for food ; And the bread so light, and the honey white, And the milk so pure and good;

For sweet the bread of labor is,

When the heart is strong and true And a blessing will come to the hearth and home, If our best we bravely do.

We have tried all sorts of ways to get rid of these pirates, without any success, except by keeping the trees in the most thrifty condition, thereby furnishing a superabuncondition, thereby furnishing a superabundance of fruit for them! We hope some of our fruit-raisers will try this plan of setting them out in the poultry yard.

Anecdotes.

Several nice young gentlemen went to the residence of a young damsel to give lier a serenade.

After some time the servant stepped out, and walking up to' the harpist, exclaimed: "My friend; the folks are all abed; you can't get a cent here to night.

" Now, my little boys and girls," said a teacher, "I want you to be still, so that SOLD BY DRUGGISTS EVERY WHERE. you can hear a pin drop." For a minute all was still, when a' litthe boy shrieked out, " Let 'er drop !"

Poetry.

WHEN I WAS YOUNG.

BY f. M. ADLINGTON-WEYMOUTH. In by-gone days when I was young, A sweet-heart was my pride; To one dear girl, I fondly clung, To her the lover's song I sung,

My courting days, 'though long ago; A pleasure still impart; And mem'ry as I older grow, More firmly 'midst both weal and woe,

Our first kiss I remember still, And never shall forget ; Through ev'ry nerve it sent a thrill,

I seem to feel it yet. The thousands that were no less sweet, Were multiplies of bliss ; But while my old heart's pulses beat,

'Twill treasure love's first kiss. Some say the old should think no more Of long departed joys ; But mem'ry will the past restore; And deeply in my bosom's core

Time has no power to change the heart, For love will time defy; 'Tho' youth, and health, and wealth depart, And Death come with his lifted dart, Love will not, cannot die.

It had its origin in heaven, A blessing to our race; The greatest e'er to mortal given, And if from earth it should be driven.

The Proprietor of SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, the inventor of SCHENCK'S RESPIROM-ETER, the only instrument that can to a certainty detect the slightest murmur of the respiratory organs. This is of great importance to Dr. SCHENCK, to know the exact condition of the lungs, whether it is Tuberculous, Fulmonary, Bronchial, Pieuritic, or Dyspeptic Consumption, and whether it is both lungs or only one that are diseased.

It requires constant and long practice to become familiar with every sound or rattling of a diseased broughlat tube. Patients come to Dr. SCHENCK to get examined that have been examined by their family physician, who told them that their lungs were almost gone; when, by a close examination with the Respirometer, it is often found that it is an affection of the bronchial tube; and by getting a healthy action of the liver and tone of the stomach, the sufferer is soon restored to health. Sometimes medicine that will stop a cough is certain death to the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the directlation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, stopping the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Dr. Schenck will be professionally at his rooms every Jact, stopping the action of the very organization of the cough.

Dr. Schenck will be professionally at his rooms every week, 32 Bond Street, New York, and 35 Hanover Street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free; but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5. His medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers, also a full supply at all times at his rooms. Poetry.

[BY LEQUEST.] The Following Inspirational Poem,

BY MISS DOTEN. Was delivered at the funeral service of Miss S. A. Southworth, at her father's residence in this town, on the 2d ult. :-

They called her, from the better land, And one bright spirit led the way ? She saw the angel's beckoning hand, And felt she could no longer stay. Oh white-robed Peace! thy gentle cross Gave to her trusting heart no pain, And that which is our earthly loss,

Is unto her eternal gain, "God is a Spirit "-we can trust That she has left earth's shadows dim, And laid aside her earthly dust,

To grow in likeness unto him. "God is a Spirit "-" God is love"-And closely folded to his breast, Her spirit like a tender dove, Shall in His love securely rest.

Oh it was meet that flower-wreathed Spring, With forms of living beauty rife, Should see the perfect blossoming Of this bright spirit into life.

The flowers will bloom upon her grave, The holy stars look down at night, But where bright palms immortal wave, She will rejoice in cloudiess light. Oh sweeter than the breath of flowers,

Or dews that summer roses weep, Deep in these loving hearts of ours, Her blessed memory we will keep. Bright spirit, let the light be given,

With tender and celestial ray, Beaming like some pure star from heaven, To guide us in our earthly way. Clad in thine immortality,

E'en now we hear thee joyful sing, "Oh Grave where is thy victory! "Oh Death where is thy sting!" Pass on, sweet spirit, to increase In every bright celestial grace, Till in the land of love and peace,

We meet, thee, dear one, face to face.

goes on to weightier matters of grain, or stock, or dairy, and eats potatoes, wheat bread, pork and salt beef, all summer long; no fine variety of vegetables, no grateful berries, no luscious peaches or juicy cherries. By October fever comes or bowel complaints of some kind, or some congestive trouble, most likely. He is laid up, work stops a month, the doctor comes, and he "drags round" all winter,

IF WE KNEW.

If we knew the woes and heart ache

If our lips could taste the wormwood,

Would we wait with such impatience

Pressed against the window pane,

Would be cold and stiff to-morrow,

Would the bright eyes of our darling

How they point our memories back,

Strewn along our backward track!

How these little hands remind us,

As in snowy grace they lie,

Not to scatter thorns-but roses-

For our reaping by-and-by.

Strange we never prize the music

Till the lovely flowers are gone;

As when the winter's snowy pinions

Lips from which the seal of silence

None but God can roll away,

As adorns the mouth to-day;

With their beautiful perfume,

Through the portals of the tomb.

Casting out the thorns and chaff;

Interesting Selections.

Come to us in sweeter accents

Let us gather up the sunbeams,

Let us keep the wheat and roses

Let us find our sweetest comfort

All the briars from our way.

Lying all along our path ;

And sweet words that freight our memory,

Never blossomed in such beauty

Shake their white down in the air.

Never seem one-half so fair

Till the sweet voiced bird has flown;

Strange that we should slight the violets,

Strange that summer skies and sunshine

Catch the frown upon our brow?

Would the print of rosy fingers

Ah, these little ice-cold fingers,

To the hasty words and actions

Vex us then as they do now?

Waiting for us down the road,

If our backs could feel the load,

Would we waste to-day in wishing For the time that ne'er can be?

For our ships to come to sea?

If we knew the baby fingers

Never trouble us again;

The recent half-yearly examinations of our public schools in Quincy by the Committee to whom this important duty is assigned, have given unmistakable evidence of progress and good discipline; more apparent in some schools than others, which is always the case. Many of the exercises of the Primary and mixed schools were fully up to the times; besides excellent examples by the pupils in the very elements of education, object teaching, singing and gymnastics, under the skilful attraction to the Committee and visitors. mon education, and too much importance cannot be attached to them.

This is of great importance to Dr. SCHENCK, to know the exact condition of the lungs, whether it is Tuberculous, Fullmonary, Bronehial, Pleuritie, or Dyspeptic Consumption, and whether it is both lungs or only one that are diseased.
> It requires constant and long practice to become familiar with every sound or rattling of a diseased bronehial tube. Patients come to Dr. SCHENCK to get examined that have been examined by their family physician, who told them that their lungs were almost gone; when, by a close examination with the Respirometer, it is often found that it is an affection of the bronchial tube; and, by getting a healthy action of the liver and tone of the stomach, the sufferer is soon reatoled to health. Sometimes medicine that will stop a cough is certain death to the patient. It locks up the liver, stops the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, stopping the action of the very organs that caused the cough. the cough.

$100 PER DAY!

We have adopted the plan of putting money in CENTURY TOBACCO to induce customers to use it, knowing that it is only necessary for them to give it a trial to become fully satisfied of its merits, and to pronounce it THE BEST FINE CUT MADE. We will continue to offer these inducements until this fact is fully recog

We are making THE CENTURY from selections of the very choicest old leef, and have devoted every care to its manufacture. It is free from Drug-, and in every respect A PURE ARTICLE OF CHEWING TOBACCO. On Mondays we will place in one paper a $100 U. S. Note. On Tuesdays, in two papers, $50 each. On Wednesdays, in five papers, $20 in each. On Thurs days, in ten papers, $10 each. On Fridays, in twenty papers, $5 in each, and on Saturdays, in fitty papers, $2 each, in all cases issuing GENUINE U. S. GREEN-BACKS to the amount of $100 a day.

The finders of these GREENBACKS—by sending us their names, address, and numbers of the bills,—will be presented with packages of our Tobacco, in proportion to the amount of money found. This house has been established for over a Hundred Years, and has always sustained a character for honesty and fair dealing which puts to flight all dopbts, if any should exist, as to the genuineness of this enterprise. TIMELY SUGGESTIONS.

Strapleaf and other sorts of turnips may be sown from July 20 to August 20 -should always be sown in drills, for convenience of working and thinning. We have always practised sowing turnips on every vacant space, and among corn at the last cultivation. Slugs are easily caught by throwing down cabbage or lettuce leaves, which they will at once appropriate for a residence. Lice are destroyed by sifting on fine wood ashes or soot. Beets, for a late crop, may be sown on good ground-growing rapidly in the cool portion of the season, they will be more tender than if sown early. Keep all odd corners clear of weeds, and hoe constantly about all growing plants. Be careful not to bruise tops of carrots and beets, as they need all their foliage, and, after extending pretty well, need no culture except the removal of large weeds growing among them. Be sure and thin them enough before this period arrives. Melons HATS AND CAPS, are benefited by having the ends of the runners pinched out, inducing them to put out laterals more freely for fruit. The smallest fruit should be removed. Onions should be frequently dressed and properly thinned. The finer squashes are getting to be a valuable crop-the more so as it is difficult to preserve them from insect enemies. Keep well-hoed, clear of weeds, dust with ashes, soot or superphos- in this vicinity. phate of lime, examining the leaves on the under side, removing and killing the insects. We are trying crude petroleum this year. We take a roughly made swab on a stick two feet long, dip it in a small pail of petroleum, and pass the swab in a circle around, and close to the hill, but not so as to drop any on the leaves. Thus the plants are completely encircled with a stench said to be so offensive as to drive SPRING WBAR, off all insects. As soon as strawberries are done on beds intended to remain, fork in decomposed manure, and dress the soil with wood ashes; keep down all runners, and thus secure a strong, healthy stock to withstand the winter, and to perfect a maximum crop of fruit next year. A few plants may be allowed to run, in order to secure a fresh stock for new planting. Keep down all suckers of raspberries, allowing two to four strong shoots to grow to a stool. So with blackberries. Look out for the currant worm and borer, and sustain overloaded branches with suitable crops. Whenever the red spider appears, give him frequent doses of soapsuds. Thin fruit on all young trees and vines, allowing only from one-third to two-thirds to perfect; pinch in all superfluous shoots, that all the energies of the plant may be directed in proper channels. This is the very best month to do all tree pruning, as the wounds heal quickly and the tree can

THE GRAPE VINE IN JULY.

Some persons think that the grape vine may be left to take care of itself in July, but this is a great mistake, for the labors of the successful culturist are as necessary during this month as at any other part of the year. The grape vine generally makes its most rampant growth in July, and it should be the work of the culturist to check this tendency, or direct the vigor of the plant into its proper channel. The growth of a fine quantity of wood and a fine crop of fruit are incompatible with each other. Fruit trees of almost every kind produce wood and fruit in alternate years, and this peculiarity is not confined to the orchard or garden, but extends to the forest. July is a suitable month for layering the vine, and as this is the best and safest mode of propagation, it should be carefully attended. All unnecessary shelter and superabundant foliage should be removed and a free current provided as a preventive of FOR BOY'S WEAR that great scourge of the grape-grower, mildew. The free use of gypsum as a manure has already been found useful in warding off this destroyer .- Western Ru-

Dr. Schenck on Dyspepsia. SYMPTOMS, CAUSES, AND REMEDY. SYMPTOMS, CAUSES, AND REMEDY.

Symptoms of Dyspepsia — A sense of fullness, tightness, and weight in the stomach, together with flatulency, acidity, sour, effensive belching of wind, waterbrash, and vomilting, and a great deal of what a person calls an all-gone feeling at the pit of the stomach; frequently there is also a palpitation of the heart, which physicians mistake for heart disease, and when the stomach is in this condition it is coated with a mucus or slime. The rough fibrous portions of the stomach, similar to what we see in tripe, is what throws out the gastric julce, and when the stomach gets a thick coat of slime on it, it prevents the gastric julce from flowing, and digestion cesses. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves this mucus or slime, and restores the stomach to its natural condition. Schenck's Mandrake Pitts are also required to carry off this morbid matter. Two thirds off this morbid matter. Two-thirds of the cases of Consumption are caused from this diseased state of the stomach; the liver becoming torpid, it ceases to throw out bile, and in a short time the whole system is deranged. The mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes sympathizes with the other organs, and before the pa-tient is aware of it, he or she has Bronchial or Pulmotient is aware of it, he or she has Bronchial or Pulmonary Consumption.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup cannot act freely through the blood when the system is in this locked-up condition, without the aid of the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills The Liver has all the venous blood to strain, and when it gets in a morbid condition, blood and bile run through the system mixed, and the whole body becomes so low and the blood so thick, it can hardly run through the veins. In a majority of cases hemorrhages occur from this thick condition of the blood. The Mandrake Pills act on the Liver similar to calomel, or they do what that does—it unlocks the gall-bladders, starts the bile, and the blood begins to circulate naturally through the veins, and the hemorrhages cease. If, when persons are attacked with hemorrhage, they would first take a good purgative, something that would act on the liver. good purgative, something that would act on the liver, they would soon be relieved from bleeding from the they would soon be relieved from bleeding from the lungs, and it is the only way, for astringents are only temporary, and firitate the bronchial tubes, and lay the groundwork for consumption.

DR. SCHENCK will be professionally at his rooms every week, 32 Bond Street, New York, and 35 Hanover Street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5.

It is medicines are for sale by all druggists and dealers. Also a full supply at all times at his rooms.

CANNING FRUIT.

A writer in the Farm and Fireside Journal, says :- " Fruit can be kept just as well without, as with sugar; and those sealed up for pies, are better without any, as they will retain their flavor far better. Brass kettles should never be used. Tin pans, or kettles lined with porcelain, so as to preserve the most perfect flavor of the You can buy as Cheap fruit, are the best. For the Patriot. THE MERCHANT'S DREAM.

Without the current of city life, With its ceaseless bustle, din and strife, The sun shone down with oppressive heat, On the high brick walls and crowded street. The rich to their country homes had gone, The poor in the lurid rays toiled on,-The office was small, dingy and bare, ness as the terrestrial world without the sleep.

Despite the sunlight entering there; The desks were covered with papers loose, And on the floor lay the "Daily News;" The ledgers huge, and the cash books sage, Were covered o'er with the dust of age; And about a good stones throw away, Could be seen the shipping in the bay. The merchant sat in an old arm chair, His face bore traces of toil and care.

The clerks in the office smart and trim, Lounged at their work regardless of him ; For he was wrapped in a slumber deep, And his face showed he dreamed in his sleep. He dreamed of the friends, and scenes and plays On his father's farm in boyhood's days. He dreamed of the hill, and wood, and brook, And his pale face wore a peaceful look,-He dreamed of the water cool and pure, And quaffed a drink from the well once more .-

He dreamed of the meadow wide and green, The patient cattle again were seen,solved to part with it. Again he sat on the old barn floor, And in fancy husked the corn once more,-In triumph he grasped a huge red ear, And kissed the maid to his heart so dear,-Kissed the dear maid, who in after life Became his cherished and loving wife,-But who for many sad years gone by. Has been in her Father's house on high,-He dreamed of the kitchen's sanded floor,

And though the scenes meet but mental eye,

To spur us towards childhood's purity. R.

to taste, and bake slowly.

In fancy danced as in days of yore, He saw the wide cheerful old fire place, His father's smile and dear mother's face,-And a thousand scenes came back again, year," said my wife quietly. Rejoicing his heart and mind and brain,-And so on that sunny day in June, lar counts now-a-days." The merchant slept all the afternoon.

When he awoke and found it all gone, Alas; he cried in a mournful tone; I would that I were as free to-day As I was when raking father's hay. He turned to his ledger, soon forgot The farmhouse, sports and the meadow lot. replied, impatiently. And all the scenes which his mind did cross Were soon absorbed in " Profit and Loss."

> DR. SCHENCK'S NEW OFFICE. ...

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has opened an office on second floor of No. 25 Hanover Street, Boston, where he will be professionally every WEDNESDAY, from 9 to 3. Every person complaining with Consumption, or any disease leading to it, is invited to call on him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the charge is five dollars. Dr. Schenck can explain to patients very correctly the stage of their disease, and how to use his medicines, namely, his Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, without the use of the Respirometer; but by it he can tell exactly how far the lungs are gone, and what part also; whether it is Tuberculous, Pulmonary, Bronchial, or Dyspetile Consumption, or whether it is merely an ulcerated throat and catarrh, or from Liver complaint. All persons having business in connection with the Town Clerk's Office, are requested to call at the room occupied by It is merely an ulcerated throat and catarrh, or from Liver complaint.

His medicines have full directions, so any one can take them without seeing him; but if they live near by, and are well enough, it is best to see him. All three of his medicines are required in nearly every case of lung disease, for it is impossible to cure Consumption unless the stomach and liver are kept in perfect order. To get lungs in a healing condition the stomach must be cleaned, and an appetite for good rich food created, so as to make good blood, before the lungs will begin to heal; then the chills and night sweats will stop, and the expecteration become free and easy.

He keeps a full supply of medicines at his rooms, which can be had at all times.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic, each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Mandrake Pills, 25 cents per box. the School Committee, directly over the NOTICE. GEORGE L. TO-MORROW

We can't recall the vanished past, Nor on the future reckon : The light-winged hours, flying past, Us to embrace them beckon.

No more let folly shroud thine eyes; Live while 'tis called to-day . What if you setting sun should rise To warm thy lifeless clay ?

Life is not given, 'tis but lent ; And thousand yet would borrow, For past, for present, time misspent, A day of grace to-morrow,

O, day of hope ! O, day of fear ! Foreboding Joy or sorrow ; That comest not, though ever near, To-morrow! still to-morrow

DESCRIPTION OF THE HUMAN LIVER

The liver is supplied with blood vessels, nerves and absorbents. One of its obvious uses is to secrete and prepare the bile. It likewise filters the blood and separates that fluid from all impurities. How indispensably necessary to health is the proper performance of this function! If the liver is diseased, it cannot purify the blood, and if that is sent back through the lungs, brain, and other parts in a morbid condition, it must cause jaundice, biliousness, obstruction of the kidneys, gravel, and many other complaints more or less painful and dangerous, but the least of them quite enough to make a man sick and uncomfortable, and unfit for the performance of any of the duties of life. This unhealthy state of the system very often ends in pulmonary consumption. umption.

The circulation of the blood is conducted in this man-

The circulation of the blood is conducted in this manner: The heart sends the vital current down through the arteries; it passes through the fiesh, taking up all impurities in its progress; then the stream of blood flows backward through the veins, and passes to the liver to be purified. It is impossible to cure consumption, scrofuls, or scarcely any other kind of ulceration, while that important organ, the liver, is diseased. It is for that reason that "regular physicians" rarely cure consumption. They usually begin their treatment with the use of some cough medicine, the basis of which is morphia or opium in some shape, which locks up the liver instead of relaxing the secretions, giving a tone to the stomach, and producing a healthy flow of bile. Dr. Schenck's

MY CREED.

I hold that Christian grace abounds Where charity is seen; that when We climb to heaven, 'tis on the rounds Of love to men.

I hold all else, named piety, A selfish scheme, a vain pretence; Where centre is not-can there be Circumference ?

This I will hold, and dare Affirm where'er my rhyme may go, Whatever things be sweet or fair, Love makes them so. Whether it be the lullabies

Or that sweet confidence of sighs And blushes made without a word. Whether the dazzling and the flush Of softly sumptuous garden bowers, Or by some cabin door, or bush

Of ragged flowers. 'Tis not the wide phylactery, Nor stubborn fast nor stated prayers, That make us saints; we judge the tree By what it bears.

And when a man can live apart From works on theologic trust, I know the blood about his heart Is dry as dust .- Alice Cary.

No. 1. Dr. Schenck on Dyspepsia.

SYMPTOMS, CAUSES, AND REMEDY. SYMPTOMS, CAUSES, AND REMEDY.

Symptoms of Dyspepsia—A sense of fullness, tightness, and weight in the stomach, together with flatulency, acidity, sour, offensive belching of wind, waterbrash, and vomiting, and a great deal of what a person calls an all-gone feeling at the pit of the stomach; frequently there is also a palpitation of the heart, which phystcians mistake for heart disease, and when the stemach is in this condition it is coated with a mucus or slime. The rough fibrous portions of the stomach, similar to what we see in tripe, is what throws out the gastric julce, and when the stomach gets a thick coat of slime on it, it prevents the gastric juice from flowing, and digestion ceases. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves this mucus or slime, and restores the stomach to its natural condition. tural condition. of this morbid matter. Two-thirds of the cases of Consumption are caused from this diseased state of the stomach; the liver becoming torpid, it ceases to throw out bile, and in a short time the whole system is deranged. The mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes sympathizes with the other organs, and before the patient is aware of ft, he or she has Bronchial or Pulmonary Consumption.

ry Consumption. Schenek's Pulmonic Syrup cannot act freely through Schenck's Fulmonic Syrup cannot act freely through the blood when the system is in this locked-up condition, without the aid of the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Fills. The Liver has all the venous blood to strain, and when it gets in a morbid condition, blood and bile run through the system mixed, and the whole body becomes so low and the blood so thick, it can hardly run through the veins. In a majority of cases hemorrhages occur from this thick condition of the blood. The Mandrake Fills act on the Liver similar to calomel, or they do what that does—it unlocks the gall bladders, starts the bile, and the blood begins to circulate naturally through the veins, and the hemorrhages cease. If, when persons the veins, and the hemorrhages cease. If, when persons are attacked with hemorrhage, they would first take a good purgative, something that would act on the liver, they would soon be relieved from bleeding from the lungs, and it is the only way, for astringents are only temporary, and firstate the brouchial tubes, and lay the groundwork for consumption. temporary, and firstate the bronchial tubes, and lay the groundwork for consumption.

DR. SCHENCK will be professionally at his rooms every week, 3? Bond Street, New York, and 35 Hanover Street, Boston, from 9 A. M. until 3 P. M. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer the charge is $5.

Along a road two Irish lads One Summer's day were walking, And all the while with laugh and shout, In lively strain were talking. About the fair, about the girls,

And who were best at dancing; While at each pretty face they met Their eyes were brightly glancing. And as they strode for many a mile They grew in time quite frisky, And now and then, from lip to lip, They passed the darling whiskey.

At length, before them in the hedge, The roadside view commanding, They saw, it's white sides lettered o'er, A mile-stone lonely standing.

They read and quickly doffed their hats, With sorrow in their faces; Then, turning with reverential awe,

They stepped back several paces. " Speak low, we're near the dead," said one, His grave we'll not be troublin'; An old man sure! 100, and IFis name is Miles from Dublin!"

There is no better time, perhaps, to renew than the month of August. If properly managed, it requires but a single year to change a hard and unproductive field into a productive one.

In order to accomplish this no more must be undertaken at once than there is team and time sufficient for the work, and manure enough to give the grass a A LOT of BOYS' and YOUTHS' BROG ANS. Just vigorous start and sustain it well until the above price. Also at field gets a top-dressing. The work is often attempted with teams too weak and plows too light. In trying to get a sufficient depth, one gets broken and the other tired, and then come the doubts whether it will ever pay to reclaim an old mea ow, or plow deep and subsoil upland.

BUDDING ROSES.

In budding, select strong, healthy shoots, and let the buds to be used for the inoculation be a little in advance of the stock. Works on roses mostly still keep up the recommendation originally copied from English works "to take out the keep constantly on hand, at the Old Stand, wood" from the bud, but no American A LARGE AND CHOICE VARIETY operator does it. Many persons use the recommended to "bud them as low" as possible. It is better to bud them a few inches above the ground-for the Manetti will throw up suckers, which if left tached when we can see a little stem .-When people will have new roses at the lowest price-or where much wood is desired for propagating purposes, or where extra fine flowers of weak growing kinds are desired, budding on the Manetti is all very well-but it is all very bad to use the Mannetti for the general public .-Practically the bed of choice grafted roses become all stocks in a few years. - Gar- Repaired in the Neatest Manner. dener's Monthly.

WISTAR'S BALSAM of Wild Cherry. This remedy has long been cherished by the community for its remarkable efficacy in relieving, healing and curne the most obstinate, painful and long standing cases Cough, Cold, Influenza, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Asthma, June 8 ly Inflammation of the Lungs ; while even Consumption itself has yielded to its magic influence when all other means have failed. Its whole history proves that the past has produced no remedy of equal value, as a and head, permanently cured by the use of the wellcure for the numerous and dangerous pulmonary affect gions which prevail all over the land, Unsolicited Testimony. From Andrew Archer, Esq., of Fairfield, Mc. "About eight years since, my son, Henry A. Archer, now Postmasier at Fairfield, Somerset County, Me., was attacked with spitting of blood, cough, weakness of Lungs and general debility, so much so that our family physician declared him to have a "SEATED CONSUMPTION." He was under medical treatment for a number of months, bu received no benefit from it. At length, from the solicita tion of himself and others, I was induced to purchase on buttle of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY which benefited him so much I obtained another bottle which in a short time restored him to his usual state of The above statement, gentlemen, is my rountary offer-ing to you in favor of your Balsam, and is at your dis-

It is merely an ulcerated throat and catarrh, or from Liver complaint.

His medicines have full directions, so any one can take them without seeing him; tant if they live near by, and are well enough, it is best to see him. All three of his medicines are required in nearly every case of lung disease, for it is impossible to cure Consumption unless the stomach and liver are kept in perfect order. To get lungs in a healing condition the stomach must be cleansed, and an appetite for good rich food created, so as to make good blood, before the lungs will begin to heal: then the chills and night sweats will stop, and the expecteration become free and easy.

He keeps a full supply of medicines at his rooms, which can be had at all times.

THE HUSBANDMAN. Earth, of man the bounteous mother, Feeds him still with corn and wine; He who best would aid a brother,

Many a power within her bosom, Noiseless, hidden, works beneath; Hence are seed, and leaf, and blossom, Golden ear and clustered wreath.

Shares with him these gifts divine.

These to swell with strength and beauty Is the royal task of man; Man's a king; his throne is duty, Since his work on earth began.

Bud and harvest, bloom and vintage-These, like man, are fruits of earth; Stamped in clay, a heavenly mintage, All from dust receive their birth.

Barn and mill, and wine vat's treasures, Earthly goods for earthly lives-These are Nature's ancient pleasures ; These her child from her derives.

What the dream, but vain rebelling, If from earth we sought to flee ? 'Tis our stored and ample dwelling ; 'Tis from it the skies we see.

"LINES SUGGESTED By the accident of Sept. 3d, 1867.

Six eyes of blue, that yester morn Beamed brightly in the early sun; Six little feet, that turned toward school, To come again when day was done; Oh! woe to them, when school was o'er,

And woe to them when turning back, Their young and careless steps had strayed, Far from the road upon the track.

Where daily ploughs, relenting ne'er, A demon dark with mouth of fire; And ever rolling ponderous wheels That crushing go, with wild desire. They saw them coming-turned aside, When lo! behold! another came, And ploughed them down like blades of grass,

To rise on earth, oh! ne'er again. Three little forms held high in air, Whose shricks by none that love were heard; Then tossed aside a shapeless mass.
Two dead—one breathing—not a word.

Oh! speak not now—the news had flown, And swiftly from their dwelling came The young, the old, the middle-grown, And whispered softly was each name.

Oh! take her home, a mother said, While yet the breath I faintly hear, And lay her on the little bed, For sadly ends her life's young year.

And this my child! another cried, While yet the third one shricked in pain, Oh! God! the thought will drive me wild, She never will come home again.

Just now I heard the same wheels pass, I saw the dark destroyer too
I held my breath, and kissed my boy,

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILL A certain Cure for Diseased Liver and the many Dangerous Maladies which are caused by a morbid condition of that organ. To give the public a clear understanding of the mode in which SCHENCK'S Mandrake Pills produce those wonderful effects which are attested by thousands of reliable witnesses, we present a brief DESCRIPTION OF THE HUMAN LIVER

BILITY, FEMALE WEAKNESS, &c., would but test the virtanding.

The liver is supplied with blood vessels, nerves and baorbents. One of its obvious uses is to secrete and repare the blie. It likewise filters the blood and seprates that fluid from all impurities. How indispensably ecessary to health is the proper performance of this astonish themselves but would please all their friends; necessary to health is the proper performance of this function! If the liver is diseased, it cannot purify the blood, and if that is sent back through the lungs, brain, and other parts in a morbid condition, it must cause jaundlee, biliousness, obstruction of the kidneys, gravel, and many other complaints more or less painful and dangerous, but the least of them quite enough to make a man sick and uncomfortable, and unfit for the performance of any of the duties of life. This unhealthy state of the system very often ends in pulmonary consumption. A DISTINGUISHED JURIST WRITES TO A FRIEND "I have tried the regretant State, and the result fally sustains your prediction. It has made a new man of me, infused into my system new vigor and energy; I am no longer tremulous and debilitated, as when you last saw me, but stronger, heartier, and with larger capacity for labor, mental and physical, than at any time during the state of the system very often ends in pulmonary consumption.

The circulation of the blood is conducted in this manner: The heart sends the vital current down through the arteries; it passes through the fiesh, taking up all impurities in its progress; then the stream of blood flows backward through the veins, and passes to the liver to be purified. It is impossible to cure consumption, scrofala, or scarcely any other kind of ulceration, while that important organ, the liver, is diseased. It is for that reason that "regular physicians" rarely cure consumption.
They usually begin their treatment with the use of some cough medicine, the basis of which is morphia or opium in some shape, which locks up the liver instead of relaxing the secretions, giving a tone to the stomach, and producing a healthy flow of bile. Dr. Schenck's Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cat-not reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. The genuine has "Perurian Syrup" blown in the glass.

Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, will strengthen the system, purify the blood, and ripen and heal ulcers on the lungs.

A volume would be required, to give a brief account of the remarkable cures performed by Dr. Schenck's medicines, viz., Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills, all of which are accompanied by full ously for several weeks with a severe arcess upon any side. I used several remedies for its eradication, without receiving any relief, until I applied your salve, which effected a speedy and permutent cure. I therefore feel happy to certify my confidence in its virtues. I yours with respect.

SEPTEMBER.

O golden sutumn month! thy balmy breath Comes freighted from the fields of ripened grain, Laden with sweets to steal away my pain,

There is a breathless stillness all around; A rare and wondrous silence, such as waits Some new-born angel by those pearly gates, Where streets of gold and bowers of bliss are found,

With whispered anthems for the summer's death,

The great waves of the grand old ocean swell, With a hushed murmuring, against the shore; And in my heart a peace unknown before Thrills me with joy, whose depths I may not tell. The light wind plays along the waving fields, And the tali grasses bend to meet it there :

And I am happy ! far-gone all my care-My soul to heaven its grateful homage yields.

A PLACE FOR TOOLS.

Farmers should take good care of their farming tools and implements, and not leave them out to get wet, and to the in- Water Powers for Manufacturing fluence of a hot sun to crack the wood. Wagons and plows will last a life time, if well housed; but when left out, exposed to all kinds of weather, a few years suffic to use them up.

A tool room is as important to a farmer as any building on his farm. A work 44 Miles from New York, on Railroad to bench, with a vice at one end, is very important. Here a hundred things can be fixed," too numerous to mention.

In such a room a good assortment of good tools should be kept-saws, planes, augurs, bits, gimlets, files, &c. Then get a good supply of nails of all kinds, wrought and cut, and some made especially for little jobs, that require nice nails. The city hardware dealers have them; they come in papers like brads. A LARGE DAIRY.

A gentleman by the name of Ross Winans owns 760 acres of land near Baltimore. He keeps cows for milk in city stables, and feeds them the year round on hay, with some bran or shorts, Indian corn, &c. The editor of the Country Gentleman who recently visited his establishment says, that he sold milk in one year, at 30 cents per gallon, to the amount of $37,630.71; cows and calves $11.986 (18 columns) covered to the country of the count $11,986.08-almost fifty thousand dollars! He mows about 650 acres, filling forty-five barns, rated at forty tons each, -some eighteen hundred tons,-averaging over two and a half tons per acre! His city stables contains stalls for 220 cows, and he actually keeps 300 head of cattle and 30 horses. From a somewhat imperfect record, it is estimated that hi cows make an average yearly yield of D. B. SAUNDERS & CO., 96 Summer street, Boston. 2637 quarts of milk per cow. Such crops of hay are evidence of liberal macrops of hay are evidence of liberal manuring, and such yields of milk of good bave made $100,000. Farmers, look well after your hen manure. We adopted a plan some years ago, of putting boards about two feet below the roosting poles, upon which they deposite all the manure. Then, once or twice a week, have it well scraped, and put in barrels. You will then have, in the course of a year, the very best manure you can possibly use for your corn and other crops.

Anecdotes.

An elderly gentleman was travelling lately while afflicted with a bad cough, which greatly annoyed his fellow-travellers, and at last one of them remarked, in a displeased tone. "That is a very bad cough of yours."

"True, sir," replied the gentleman; "but you will excuse me—it's the best I've got."

WEIGHING THE BABY.

Baby, who came but a month ago? How many pounds from the crowning curl To the rosy point of the restless toe? Grandfather ties the 'kerchief's knot, Tenderly guides the swinging weight, And carefully over his glasses peer To read the record, " Only eight." Softly the echo goes around, The father laughs at the tiny girl; The fair young mother sings the words, While the grandmother smoothes the golde

And stooping above the precious thing, Nestles a kiss within a prayer, Murmuring softly, "Little one, Grandfather did not weigh you fair." Nobody weighed the baby's smile, Or the love that came with the helpless one; Nobody weighed the threads of care From which a woman's life is spun.

Patient and faithful unto death. Nobody weighed the baby's soul, For here on earth no weights there be That could avail; God only knows Its value in eternity.

Only eight pounds to hold a soul, That seeks no angel's silver wing. But shrines it in this human guise, Within so fair and small a thing. Be gay and glad, but don't forget

ABUSING HORSES.

It is doubtless true that occasionally a herse may be found so naturally or in herently vicious as to try severely even the patience of a saint. But as a general thing the horse is the saint and his manager the sinner where trouble occurs be- place of business is now tween them. In too many instances the horse is abused and rendered disinclined to work in consequence of a lack of suitable food and proper grooming after the day's labor is performed. This results often from carelessness rather than from in too many instances ill-treatment flows from a cruel disposition on the part of the manager. A morose, fractious person is not fit to have the charge of a horse.

A few days since we saw a practical illustration of this. A man was passing along the street with a loaded wagon.-One of the wheels struck a stone causing a portion of the load to topple off and fall to the ground. The horses were not to blame for this, yet the driver beat them most unmercifully because of the mishap Such a man ought not to be intrusted with the control and care of horses, nor indeed of anything else, except, perhaps, a wheelbarrow with a ball and chain at-

The horse is one of the most ambitious and useful of the domestic animals. He is possessed of great physical power, and comparatively worthless. To make the horse what he should be, elastic in limb give all a Good Bargain. and docile in temper, good grooming is indispensable. He should be thoroughly cleaned every day, or at the close of every exertion of labor or speed which may have called into action his muscular powers for any considerable time. Timely feeding and proper food are essential, but next to these in importance is proper and scasonable grooming.

DISSOLVING BONES.

The Massachusetts Farmer gives the following directions for dissolving bones: Take a few barrels,-old sugar casks are as good as any,-and first put in at the bottom a layer of wood ashes, then a layer of bones, and then upon it another layer of wood ashes, and so on alternately till the barrels or casks are filled. If the bones are partially broken with an ax or otherwise first, it will facilitate their dissolution. These ashes now must be kept moist by adding water from time to time and if they stand out doors under the shade of some old tree or on the north side of : building, will require less frequent attention. An occasional wetting with chamber lye is beneficial. In from ten to six months, according to the size of the bones and the care with which the ashes are moistened, the bones will be dissolved and the compost is fit for use. This is the most economical method of reducing them, and if every farmer would pick up the bones that are scattered about hi premises and treat them in this way he would show signs of thrift.

WHEN TO KILL OLD COWS.

It is a question, among farmers, as to what age cows can be properly used for dairy purposes, and when it is best to dispose of them on account of age. This will depend somewhat on the breed of the animals, and the usage they have received. As a general rule, when a cow has entered her teens she has approximated close line. A good farmer once remarked that

Anecdotes.

An Irish counsellor having lost his cause, which had been tried by three Judges, one of whom was esteemed a very able lawyer, though the other two were indifferent, some of the other barristers were merry on the occasion.

"Well, now," said one, "who could help it, when these are a hundred Judges on the bench?"

"A hundred!" said a bystander, "there were but three." "By St. Patrick," replied he, "there were one and two ciphers."

A noble lord asked a clergyman once at the bottom of his table, "Why the goose, if there was one, was always placed

"Really," said he, "I can give no reason for it; but your question is so odd that I shall never see a goose, for the inture, without thinking of your lordTombard's Column.

BUSINESS COLLEGE And Writing Institute, Mercantile Building, 32 Summer St., Boston.

The Largest, Best and the only ACT UAL BUSINESS COLLEGE IN

THIS College is one of the International Chain of Business Colleges located in forty-four of the chief cities of the United States and Canada, and furnishes the very best facilities for acquiring a thorough Business Education. Its mechanical arrangements are perfect. Its Teachers are men of energy.— They have the interests of the Students and of the College at heart.

THEORY DEPARTMENT.

Each Student closes over Fifty Sets of Books including several by Single Entry. Black-board exercises daily in Commercial Computations. Severe discipline in the Short Processes practiced by the most expert Account ints and Business Men. Daily Practice in Business Writing under the supervision of first-class penmen, whose skill in rapid off hand writing positively cannot be surpassed in this country.

PRACTICAL DEPARTMENT. Each Student furnished with a Cash Capital, which he immediately deposits, and enters with zest into business; buys, sells, and deals with the Business Community around him under all the conditions incident to actual business life; speculates in Stocks, Real Estate, &c.; executes Deeds, Mortgages, Contracts, &c.; pays bills per Check, Note, Draft, &c., opens Correspondence with the other a disposition to maltreat the animal, but to furnish the citizens of Quincy and on Joint Speculation; renders Accounts, Sales; makes Remittances per Draft, &c.; becomes by turn Cashier, Teller, Bank Bookkeeper, Broker, Agent, &c. These operations require that accounts shall be kept which, the Transactions being Original, afford a Practical Test of his preficiency as an Accountant. The life and business anxiety of this department must be seen to be understood.

> PARENTS Should consider the great advantages their sons might enjoy in the possession of knowledge, which no system of common schools in the world can furnish. Young men who have a good trade should be wise, invest a small sum in a Perpetual Scholarship, and get a practical Education. Not a day should be lost efore making an examination of this subject.

SPECIAL ADVANTAGES. The Scholarships are PERPETUAL, allowing he Student to pursue his course as leisurely or pleasure during life.

We will send gratuitously to any person desiring them, a " Memorial of the Conven-

For the Patriot. PLAIN TALK TO JOHNNY.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON-WEYMOUTH. John Bull, vou'd better settle now. About the Alabama, We now are calm, but as we grow, We shan't grow any calmer; And if our claim you disallow,

We may be growing warmer. We're growing Johnny every day, In time we shall grow bigger, And if you throw your chance away, I guess you'll miss a figure; For Johnny if you will not pay,

By gosh we'll pull the trigger. So take the hint-you surly bull, And don't be after cheating, Or you may get your belly full, That is, you'll get a beating;

We'll take the kinks out of your wool, And set your calves a bleating. We've got a million dogs of war, Who'ld like to meet you Johnny, Would take you by the under jaw, And make you sweet as honey ; ;

So listen Johnny, to the law, Be just and pay the money. We've other charges more or less-That must be liquidated; And when for settlement we press, Since we so long have waited, You'd better pay the bill, I guess, Before the bull is baited.

> Dr. Schenck on Dyspepsia. SYMPTOMS, CAUSES, AND REMEDY.

Symptoms of Dyspepsia — A sense of fullness, tightness, and weight in the stomach, together with flatulency, acidity, sour, offensive beiching of wind, waterbrash, and vomiting, and a great deal of what a person last five years."

All Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

Or slime. The rough horous portions of the stomach, similar to what we see in tripe, is what throws out the gastric julce, and when the stomach gets a thick coat of slime on it, it prevents the gastric julce from flowing, and digestion ceases. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves this much or slime, and restores the stomach to the stomach, a similar to what we see in tripe, is what throws out the gastric julce, and when the stomach gets a thick coat of slime on it, it prevents the gastric julce from flowing, and digestion ceases. Schenck's Seaweed Tonic dissolves this much or slime.

schenck's Mandrake PHs are also required to carry off this morbid matter. Two-thirds of the cases of Consumption are caused from this diseased state of the stomach; the liver becoming torpid, it ceases to throw out bile, and in a short time the whole system is deranged. The mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes sympathizes with the other organs, and before the patient is aware of it, he or she has Bronchial or Pulmonary Consumption.

ARREBUET, Mass. Oct. 13th, 1867.

Mr. Grace—Dear Sor:—Having been afflicted grievously for several weeks with a severe abcess upon my side. I used several remeder for its eradication, without receiving any relief, until I applied your salve, which effected a speedy and permanent cure. I therefore feel happy to certify my confidence in its virtues.

Some breeders cram their poultry before killing, to make them appear heavy; this is a most injudicious plan, as the undigested food soon enters into, fermentation, and putrefaction takes place, as is evidenced by the quantity of greenish, putrid-looking fowls that are seen in the Downing, as well as cultivators near New York, finds it to be at least ten days earlier than any other variety. Even this is a great advance, and had it been put out as being ten days earlier than others, instead of thirty, the public would have accepted it as a probable statement, and have been more disposed to try it .- American Agriculturist.

SALT FOR FATTENING SWINE.

A correspondent of the Annalen des Landwirthschaft states some interesting experiments to test the use of salt in fattening swine. He selected two pairs of barrow hogs, weighing 200 pounds apiece. One pair received, with their daily allowance of food, two ounces of salt; the other pair, similarly fed, none. In the course of a week it was easily seen that the salted pair had a much stronger appetite than the others and after a fortnight it was increased to two ounces apiece. After four months the weight of the salted hogs was 350 pounds each, while that of the unsalted, five weeks later, reached only 300 pounds. The experiment was repeated with almost precisely the same results. The author feeds young pigs according to their age, a quarter of an ounce daily.
